Dean's Message

My proudest moment as an educator comes every Spring when a class of graduates comes forward to stand and be recognized publicly for successfully completing another step in their development as professional pharmacists. For many, attainment of the doctor of pharmacy degree will mean immediate entry into the practice of pharmacy in one of dozens of settings available to today's practitioners. To others, a degree is but a stepping stone to further studies either in one of many clinical residency programs or in a graduate program aimed at educating scientists. The Classes of 1999 and 2000 have taken center stage at a time in the profession's history when the demand and opportunities for pharmacists are at a high point. The continued and growing importance of drug therapy to a population that is growing older needs no comment. The increasing specificity of drug therapy and the potential for pharmacogenomics to increase this specificity even further presents an unparalleled challenge to pharmacists seeking to directly influence patient care.

To exist in today's health care system, the graduates of the years 1999 and 2000 cannot succeed with the art and science of pharmacy alone. The modern graduate must be able to grapple with issues of the marketplace, the politics of health care, the phenomenal strengths and inherent weaknesses of the internet and the wired society. It's not easy being a new pharmacist today, but the road ahead will absolutely be exciting.

As you graduate from this School of Pharmacy, you carry with you the indelible brand of your education. From now on you are, indeed, a University of Maryland-brand pharmacist. Your future and the School's are inextricably intertwined. For decades to come, the School will be judged by your success and your accomplishments. We have had a vested interest in you since you arrived to the School of Pharmacy. That vested interest will continue for the next 40 years. We will call on you frequently throughout your career to help future generation of students as you have been helped and guided by those who have gone before you. You will be asked to serve as preceptors, as members of advisory boards, as active alumni, as financial supporters and as cheerleaders for both the School and the students.

As you turn time and again through the pages of this Terra Maria to relive your experiences while at Maryland, you will understand the importance of responding to our call. You've chosen a terrific and caring health profession in pharmacy. You've received the best education that we could provide. Now go forth and apply it, enjoy it, profit from it, and, always, make sure that the people you serve come first.

Congratulations and good luck!

David A. Knapp, PhD

April Adams

April 1, 1953 to January 13, 1999

When April Adams started pharmacy school in the fall of 1995, she worried how she would make it over the next four years. April fretted that she would be the oldest person in the class, that she would not “fit in”, that she would make no friends, and that she would be unable to balance the rigors of pharmacy school and the demands of her family. Before deciding to return to school, April had spent the last 15 years of her life raising her children, Alissa and Neal. April was also busy with her thriving cake-decorating business, but she longed to do something different-something where she felt she could make a difference in the lives of others. Before having children, April had worked as a computer programmer and systems analyst but she wanted a more personally fulfilling profession, one in which she could have more contact with people, so April decided to become a pharmacist. She and her husband, Barry, felt that her graduation from pharmacy school would be timed perfectly with Alissa's graduation from high school; just in time to help fund her daughter's college education.

It was the Class of 1999's good fortune that April Adams chose pharmacy. But April still had her worries about her choice to return to school. She quickly discovered, however, that these worries were unfounded. First of all and much to her delight, April learned that at 42, she was not the oldest freshman. She also discovered that her combined roles of wife, mother, and pharmacy student were not a hindrance to her success in school or at home, but in fact made her more efficient. But the worries that April most happily cast over her shoulders were those about making friends and fitting in. April had an electric smile and zest for life that everyone was drawn to, from students to professors. In short, April was fun. Whether she was at a happy hour, helping with Fred Lab, on a boat cruise, attending a fraternity function, driving to school with her “car-poolers”, handing out some of her famous cupcakes, hosting a party, or just hanging out in the lobby, April was having fun, and so was everyone else around her. Furthermore, April never looked at her circle of friends as being complete and as a result it never stopped expanding throughout her pharmacy school career. While April was officially a member of Rho Chi and AZO, she was an “honorary” member of both Phi Delta Chi and Kappa Psi. She thought nothing of attending “Tex Mex” or the formal dinners of her competing pharmacy school fraternities. To April, these events were just additional opportunities to experience fellowship with her pharmacy school family.

This sense of family was the main reason that April longed to return to pharmacy school for the spring semester of her senior year. She had missed her classmates terribly during her six months of rotations away from school and worried that everyone would go their separate ways and lose touch once they graduated. While, like everyone else in her class, April was anxious to return so that she could finish her coursework and finally graduate after four long years of pharmacy school, April's main reason for wanting to return was to see her classmates together once again as a group. But sadly, April never got to witness her class reunion. April died unexpectedly during the early morning hours of January 13, 1999.

When the Class of 1999 returned for its final semester, April's seat was empty. Our final semester of pharmacy school was not the same. Missing was April's warm smile and magnetic personality. But we knew that she was with us in spirit - to keep us smiling through one more semester, to cheer for us at our graduation, to give us faith during our boards, and to guide us as we embarked on our careers. No one cherished the Class of 1999 more than April Adams and it is to her memory that we dedicate this yearbook.

Dedication Written by Laurie Buonaccorsi

In Dedication of Dr. Aaron Burstein

Aaron Burstein, Pharm.D., B.C.P.S. joined the School of Pharmacy faculty as an Assistant Professor of Pharmacy Practice and Sciences in 1995 after completing a postdoctoral fellowship at the Millard Fillmore Hospital in Buffalo, New York, a residency in a hospital pharmacy residency at the Moses Cone Memorial Hospital in North Carolina and obtaining bachelors and doctoral degrees from the State University of New York at Buffalo.

While at Maryland, Dr. Burstein pursued his twin interests in Neurology and Pharmacokinetics. In addition to teaching and his substantial research load, he was a sought after special projects mentor for students interested in Neurology, served as a research project advisor for residents, directed a post-Pharm.D. fellow, and mentored non-traditional Pharm.D. students. Dr. Burstein's tenure at Maryland will be remembered for his collegiality and his dedication to one-on-one teaching and mentoring. In addition to his pharmacokinetics and neurology research, he collaborated with numerous faculty on issues ranging from toxicology to diabetes management. His mentoring efforts are demonstrated by the numerous publications, abstracts, and research projects which students brought to fruition under his guidance.

Dr. Burstein left Maryland in 1999 to pursue his research interests at the National Institutes of Health.

In Dedication of Dr. Christine Eccles

Dr. Christine Eccles came to the University of Maryland in 1979 as Assistant Professor in the Department of Pharmacology and Toxicology. She was promoted to Associate Professor in 1987. Dr. Eccles was a faculty member who successfully balanced her career with a wonderful family, raising a boy and girl; and who enjoyed life in general, particularly cross-country skiing, dancing, and traveling.

Dr. Eccles was an active participant in the School's educational program, developing courses, serving as coursemaster and frequent lecturer. She initiated several Toxicology and Neurotoxicology courses, offered to professional and graduate students. She not only taught in the programs on the Baltimore campus, but she also made significant contributions to the "Essentials of Toxicology" course in the MEES Program at College Park. She was a frequent participant in the Summer Minority Student Program, working as a volunteer with students in her laboratory.

Dr. Eccles research career related to the area of neurotoxicology. She had an interest in lead and mercury toxicity, as well as the toxicity of Agent Orange. More recently, she became interested in neurodegenerative diseases, including research in glutamate-induced neurotoxicity. The latter interest resulted in a successful sabbatical leave in 1996 at the Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine.

Most impressive was her commitment to use her background and knowledge to serve others. In this regard, she participated extensively on committees at the community, state, federal and international levels. Her input was continuously sought on committees and commissions dealing with environmental toxicity questions. For instance, she served as chairperson of the Community Advisory Committee of the Maryland Environmental Service (Hawkins Point Secure Landfill) and as a member of the State of Maryland Hazardous Waste Commission. She was also a member of the State of Maryland Governor's Scientific Advisory Council.

Dr. Eccles unique area of expertise was important to the teaching, research and service programs of the School. Her contributions as a faculty member and interesting colleague will be missed as she devotes more time to her family.

Myron Weiner, Ph.D.

In Dedication to Dr. Emmeline Edwards

*D*r. Emmeline Edwards joined the School of Pharmacy faculty in 1992 as an Associate Professor in the department of Pharmaceutical Sciences. She joined our faculty from SUNY, where she was an Associate Professor in Behavioral Pharmacology. Dr. Edwards received her Ph.D. in Neurochemistry from Fordham University and completed her post-doctoral training in behavioral pharmacology at SUNY. Dr. Edwards was actively involved in behavioral pharmacology research with a neuroscience emphasis and provided valuable expertise in this area to the department. She also taught in the pharmacology and human biology portions of our curriculum. Dr. Edward's interest and expertise in behavioral pharmacology research led to a two year appointed position at the National Science Foundation. In this prestigious position, Dr. Edwards was a project officer in charge of reviewing and recommending funding for proposals in the area of neuroscience/behavioral pharmacology. Dr. Edwards left academia in 1999 and is consulting with NINDS.

J. Edward Moreton, Ph.D.

In Dedication to Dr. Madeline Finberg

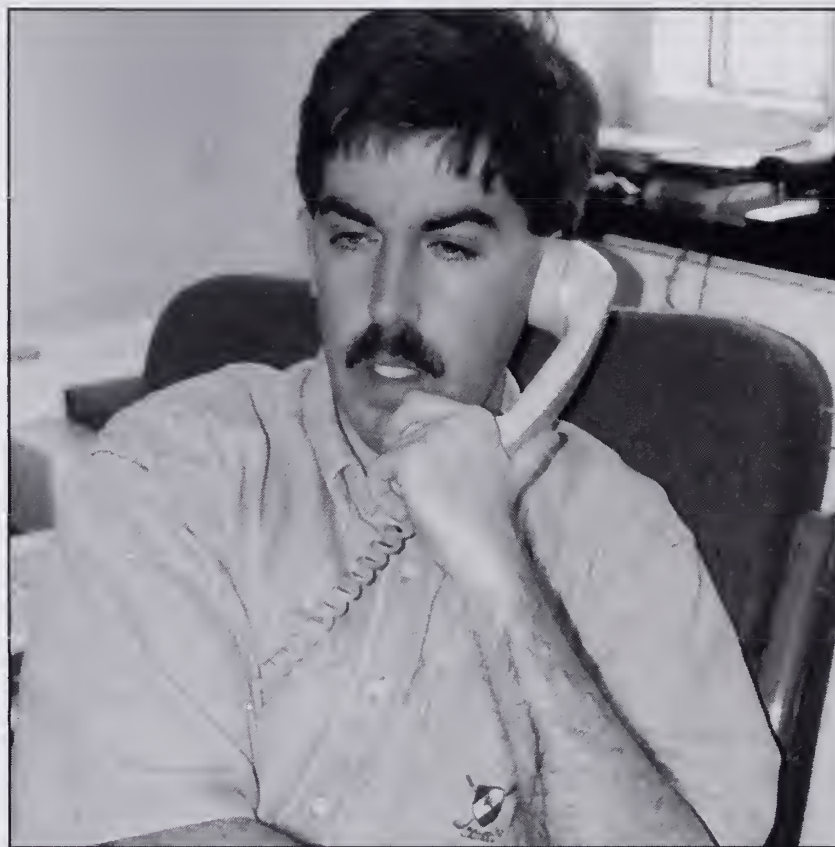

Once in a lifetime, a special person may cross your path that stimulates and challenges you like no other. Madeline "Maddy" Finberg is that special person for many people. She touches the lives of students, seniors, caregivers and healthcare practitioners. Many describe her as "full of energy, dynamic speaker and pioneer in the area of elder education." These are common remarks made by people who know Maddy.

Madeline Finberg earned her doctor of pharmacy from the University of Maryland in 1993 as well as her RPh in 1979. She worked closely with Dr. Peter Lamy and Parke-Davis as director of the Consumer Drug Education Program. She helped build the program, which reaches out to countless seniors, caregivers and healthcare professionals still to this day. As an assistant professor, she taught numerous lectures on Alzheimer's Disease, Parkinson's Disease as well as other geriatric disease states and syndromes.

She was recognized as a pioneer in the field by awards such as the Governor's Citation for service to Senior Citizens. Dr. Finberg served as President of the Maryland Pharmacists Association and founding practitioner for the Geriatric Certification Examination. She was recognized for her expertise by being appointed to the USP Advisory Committee specializing in Geriatrics.

In Dedication to Dr. Reiss

Dr. William Reiss joined the School of Pharmacy faculty in 1993 as an Assistant Professor in the Department of Pharmacy Practice and Science. He joined our faculty after spending two years at the University of Wisconsin-Madison. He received his Clinical Pharmacy training at SUNY Buffalo and completed a Fellowship in Clinical Pharmacokinetics at the University of Washington.

Dr. Reiss was actively involved in the teaching and research involving immunology, immunosuppressive agents and drug metabolism. In addition, he was responsible for the Clinical Pharmacokinetics courses in the curriculum. He was also an important member of the Pharmacokinetics-Biopharmaceutics Laboratory where he provided research expertise in organ transplantation and drug metabolism. Because of his research expertise, he was well funded by the pharmaceutical industry, and he was an invited speaker at National meetings on numerous occasions. In addition, to his scholarly activities, he provided extensive service to the University of Maryland and was named Vice-Chairperson of the University of Maryland Institutional Review Board. Dr. Reiss was the first non-physician to hold this position. Dr. Reiss left academia in 1999 to pursue his interests in immunotherapy and transplant drug development at Immunex.

vitamin/mineral supplement dissolution (or lack thereof!), none of which resulted in large outside funding but had essential public health value. He led by example, always the mentor and teacher. His more than 30 years of continuous volunteer service was recognized by a posthumous award from the United States Pharmacopoeia in the spring of 2000. Ralph Shangraw was a true visionary and his view of the future never dimmed. Whether it was the Professional Experience Program that he pioneered and championed or his concepts of patient care and safety, he was always "right on." His insights were impeccable!

Who can forget the contests he conducted to bring life and humor to school? His creativity was always working to make even the ordinary seem unique. His students and colleagues each have their own favorite memory of a special holiday contest, most often with Ralph competing for the prize!

Ralph was the role model for any person wondering how to be a good parent and husband. He was never known to utter an unkind word or even to swear.

But more importantly, one only had to gaze at his wife, their kids and grandchildren to understand the depth of love, devotion and pride he had in them all. Dr. Shangraw was undemanding and unselfish. To have been his colleague was a privilege; to have been his friend, extraordinary. He was a giant among men and those who knew him were fortunate to have shared in his vision, his humanity and to have learned by his example. He is sorely missed but will be remembered always.

Ralph S. Shangraw was that unusual person who epitomized each of these terms - and one more: he was a Mench, a Yiddish word connoting the totality of the human condition. Dr. Shangraw loved to teach and his students loved him for it. He approached his subject with curiosity and ardor, translating the most mundane topic into something exciting. His intellectual curiosity led him to ask questions that no one else did - often about products that had limited market value, but important therapeutic benefits. Examples include stability of nitroglycerin products,

Non-Traditional Pathway Students

The School of Pharmacy is proud to offer a "nontraditional" pathway to earning the Doctor of Pharmacy degree for pharmacists currently in practice. These folks are hard-working pharmacists by day, and hard-working students by night! The programs allows pharmacists to continue working, with experiential learning assignments completed in their own practice site, ultimately enhancing their overall practice. Pharmacists work with faculty mentors to develop their skills as pharmaceutical care providers. Over one hundred and twenty five pharmacists have graduated with the Pharm.D. degree through this pathway, and an additional 200 pharmacists continue to work toward the degree. Congratulations and keep up the hard work!

Class Picnics

The end of the year always called for a Class Picnic. Mark fired up the grill and we celebrated the last exam for the year. It was a great time to kick back with your friends and have one last fling.

Welcome Back 4th Years Party

*W*elcome Back 4th Years! For us, this meant back to school and back together as a class. This was a good time to catch up with old friends. We had pharmacy law and senior colloquium still to do, but at least we were all back together before graduation.

Our Final Senior Parties

To the Class of 2000

By
Neil V. Smith

This old guitar got me through four years of pharmacy school where I was taught all about Pharmaceutical Care.

From Pharmacy 516 to Biochemistry.
But most of all gave me Ethics and Scooby Doo;
Oh, where would I be without ol' Scooby Doo.

This old guitar got me through Human Bio;
Microbio, Immunology and Fred lab too.
Introduced me to some friends of mine, brightened up some days.
Kept me warm on a cold long study night.
Yes, second year was just one long study night.

This old guitar got me through Plaisance and ISAT;
Helped me through an occasional elective too.
Prepared me for rotations, changed our group size too.
Taught me what it means to be a Pharm.D.
Yes, we learned that "C" equals Pharm.D.

This old guitar got me through nine months of rotations,
Phases III, IV, V and VI all done, thank you!
Thanks to all that helped us, Trovato, Roffman and Boots.
These past four years we've relied on each other through and through,
Let me tell you I'm going to miss each one of you.

Four Years

By
Marlon C. Cooper

It's been four years
And now it's coming to an end
We were once strangers
But now we're friends
It took some time but now I know you
And I'm really glad we met
It's been four years
Four years I won't forget. . . Oh
It's been four years
Four years I won't forget

Some times were hard
But somehow you helped me through it all
I'd often stumble
At times I'd fall
But when I fell you were there to catch me
You have been my safety net
It's been four years
Four years I won't forget. . . Oh
It's been four years
Four years I won't forget

Do you remember all the times we laughed and times we cried
Do you recall all the times we've shared
And when I felt that I could not go on
You told me to be strong
And you encouraged me

It's been four years
And now I know I'm not alone
Because you told me
I was your friend
It took some time but now I know you
And I'm so glad we met
It's been four years
Four years I won't forget. . . Oh
It's been four years
Four years I won't forget

Graduate Students

The world of a graduate student revolves around classes and research. In the School of Pharmacy, the graduate students find time to relax and have fun through events sponsored by the Pharmacy Graduate Student Association (PGSA) and also through campus-wide events.

The cultural diversity of the graduate student population offers a unique opportunity to experience different ethnic customs, festivals, and best of all, food. Balvinder S. Vig, graduate student and former president and co-founder of the UMB Indian Association adds, "We are fortunate to have this opportunity to share our culture with the entire UMB community. The graduate students in the School of Pharmacy have been especially active in the Indian Association."

But many other students often find time to take an active leadership role in campus-wide organizations, such as the USGA, GSA and the ISO. Some notable mentions are Agnes Cseresnyes, president-elect of the USGA; Christy Sasiela, president of the GSA; Marco Bennett, co-chair of the Graduate Research Conference 2000; Rahul Deshmukh, treasurer of the ISO; Kshitij Patkar, GSA senator; and Julie Suman, co-chair (with Agnes) of Grasp 2000, a conference for graduate students of Pharmacy schools from the Eastern states.

Although involvement in these organizations takes time, the effort is well worth it. An active participant in the US-GA and ISO is Varsha Chavan, who adds, "These organizations are a great way to meet students from other schools and departments."

Despite the long hours and the occasional experimental setback, the graduate students in the School of Pharmacy are able to forge lasting friendships which survive well past their graduation dates. "It's been a long, hard road towards graduation," states Uplaksh Kumar, Ph.D., "but the journey was made a lot easier by the friendships I've made along the way." No matter what degree they obtain, the Pharmacy graduate students all earn a Ph.D. in camaraderie.

It's All About The Benjamins!

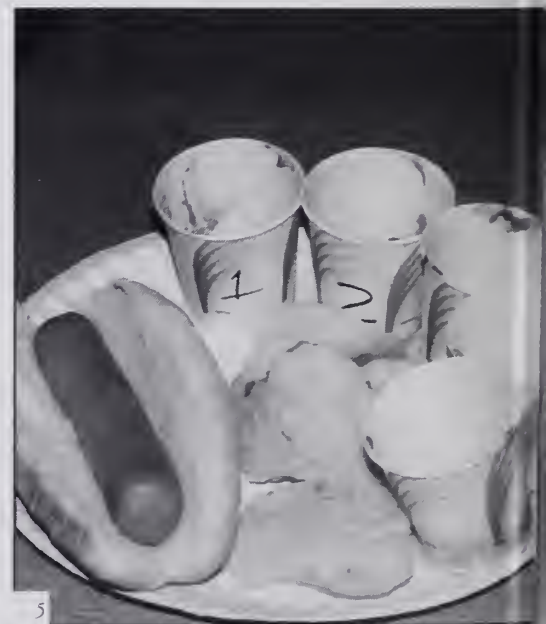

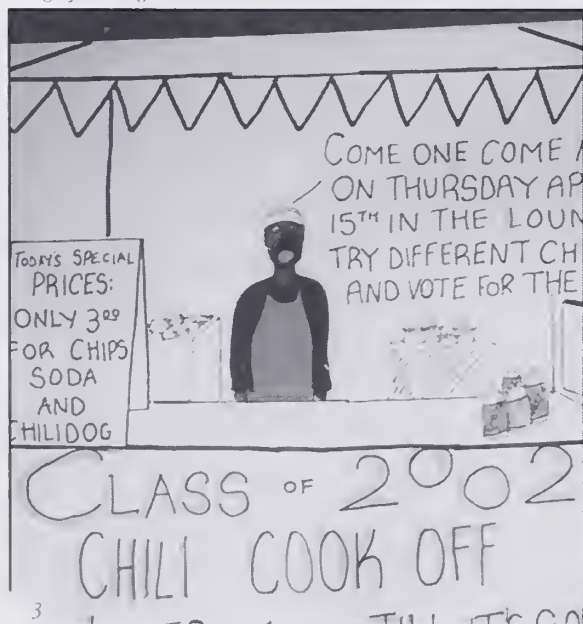

Fundraising was an essential part of the first two years in pharmacy school. The proceeds went towards the 2nd Year Class trip. The Class of 2002's excursion is depicted on pages 146 - 149. In our first three semesters, dedicated students expended precious time and energy raising money. Projects included pharmacy wind-breaker sales, T-shirt sales, bake sales, bagel sales, a chilli cook-off and the magnificent Class Auction.

And the money keeps rolling in...

Exciting Times for the Student Chapter by Jared Calish

We have had great programs in 1999 beginning with an ASHP grant run program, "Tools for School Tools for Life" membership drive. This drive was developed in 1998 through the use of ASHP grant money and continued for 1999. The 1998 membership drive placed our chapter third in the country for recruiting, but we became the largest chapter in 1999 with over 100 student chapter members recruited, both new and returning. Melanie Ruane and Kevin Chappell were the winning team in the Clinical Skills competition in 1998, although they did not win the national competition at the Mid-Year Clinical Meeting in Las Vegas. This chapter has even more to be proud of, our 1999 clinical skill team, Melanie Ruane and Jeannie Rhee finished as finalist in the top 10 teams at the ASHP National Clinical Skills Competition. We wrapped up the fall season by helping Phi Delta Chi with their annual Thanksgiving Day dinner at the Ronald McDonald House.

Second Year Class Trip

Maiden Voyage To Puerto Rico

The second year class of Pharm.D. students traditionally travel to the Midwest or the Northeast during winter break to visit and tour the manufacturing and research facilities of representative major pharmaceutical firms. The firms are invariably eager to open their doors to pharmacy students, and the visits are a high point of their pharmaceutical education. This year the Class of 2002 decided to go south, where it is warm, for the annual tour. Working with our sister school, the University of Puerto Rico School of Pharmacy, the class spent a marvelous week visiting Searle, SmithKline Beecham, and Warner Lambert. The goals of the trip (to learn about the pharmaceutical industry, to learn about opportunities for pharmacists in industry, to gain unique cultural experiences, and to have fun

Poison Center

The Maryland Poison Center is certified by the American Association of Poison Control Centers (AAPCC) as a regional poison center providing poisoning triage, treatment, education, and prevention services to all Marylanders. This service is staffed by pharmacists and nurses, who have specialized clinical toxicology training, 24 hours a day, every day of the year. All of our specialists have been certified by the AAPCC as Specialists in Poison Information. On average, each specialist has over six years of experience managing poisoning and overdose cases. We have the best qualified, best trained staff available ALL the time in order to best meet the needs of the state. In addition to the knowledge, skill, and experience of the Poison Specialists, the Director of the program is board certified in Clinical Toxicology and the medical director is boarded in Emergency Medicine as well as in Medical Toxicology. And, just to make sure we've got all the bases covered, we have additional specialized consultants available as well! The Lamy Center

Dr. Peter Lamy came to the University of Maryland in 1963. He was a pioneer in the area of geriatric pharmacotherapy. As a teacher, teacher, mentor and colleague, Dr. Lamy is remembered as man or ideas who "worked beyond beyond the walls." He led the Center for the Study of Pharmacy and Therapeutics for the Elderly which developed Elder-Health and ElderCare. It is a fitting tribute to name the Center in his honor.

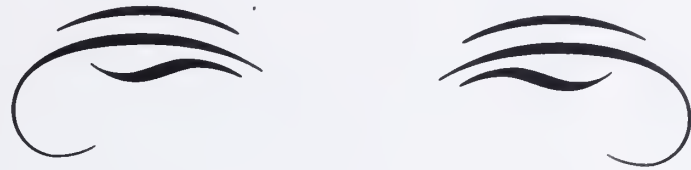

Lamy Center is a part of the School of Pharmacy. The Center is directed by Bruce Stuart, Ph.D., and deputy director Nicole Brandt, Pharm.D.

Faculty associates also include Donald Fedder, R.Ph., Dr.PH.; Robert Michocki, Pharm.D.; Daniel Mullins, Ph.D.; Francis Palumbo, Ph.D., JD.; Gary Smith, Pharm.D.; and Sheila Weiss, Ph.D.

CONGRATULATIONS!

The Kelly Memorial Building

In 1953, the Maryland Pharmacists Association erected an authentic colonial brick headquarters building on the campus of the University of Maryland in Baltimore. The building was appropriately named after the illustrious late Dr. Evander F. Kelly, a former dean of the School of Pharmacy and later, Executive Secretary of the American Pharmaceutical Association.

The Maryland Pharmacists Association

The state's only professional organization of pharmacy practitioners, the Maryland Pharmacists Association (MPhA) was founded in 1882. The Association's mission is to serve members, to represent Pharmacists, and to promote the highest standards of professional practice in Maryland. If you want a voice in the future of pharmacy, we urge you to be a active member of the MPhA. For more information, call 410-727-0746.

A Letter from the Editor

Within the walls of the Pharmacy Hall something worth cherishing happens every moment. Someone is always laughing, crying, studying, partying, make a statement or making a complete fool of themselves. The Terra Mariae tries to capture these moments and make them last a lifetime.

Putting a yearbook together is no small feat, each year the Terra Mariae has to face many trials and tribulations to get the yearbook published. It involves obtaining photographs of virtually every event that involves the School of Pharmacy. Materials for the yearbook have to be collected from 20 to 30 organizations and then compiled into a book. Accordingly, it is only right to thank everyone who has supported the Terra Mariae and made the publishing of the 1999 - 2000 edition possible.

First, I would like to extend a heartfelt gratitude to our stalwart advisor Dr. Alexander MacKerell for all his drive and support. Without his guidance and persistence this edition of the Terra Mariae would not have made it into the computers and out to you.

Thanks to the guys on the seventh floor, Dr. Knapp, Dr. Beardseely, and Dr. Cooper for providing the much needed Yearbook/SGA office. Many thanks to Pamela Crowe for going out of her way to supply furniture for the office. Thanks to the Dr. Bruce Anderson for donating a printer from the Poison Center. And thanks to Tim Munn and his crew for seeing to our computer needs. Special thanks to Ann Bonaparte, Anna Vigil, Nancy Middleton, Lisa Calvert Chalk, Brenda Conrad, Carolyn Footman, Elaine Jackson and Phyllis Streib for all their help.

A sincere thanks goes out to the faculty that made contributions to the Terra Mariae. Dr. Brandt, Dr. Eddington, Dr. Fedder, Dr. Love, Dr. Moreton and Dr. Weiner thanks for the remarkable dedications.

Many thanks to the historians that helped put this book together. Thanks to all the class historians, Seth Cohen, Cherokee Layson, Archana Vyas, Yoo Jung Chang, Rajesh David, Rebecca Ward for all the layouts you put together. And to all the other organization historians Gary Zimmerman, Dan Hsu, Manina Kaur, Anita Plebaniak, Robin Plessset for the effort put into getting you layouts done. Thanks to co-editors Angelica Klinaki and Jennifer Roche for their help and innovative ideas. I would like to give special thanks to Raj David whose devotion and hard work played a major role in the completion of this yearbook.

Finally I would like to thank you beautiful people for being all that you are. You are the Terra Mariae. Thanks for letting us take your picture!

Sincerely,

Nneka Anurah
